This Week:

Drama FLEX students put on a performance of Bremen Town Musicians for students in grades K - 4 as well as staff members. The play was about four animals who are no longer needed by their owners so they leave for a new town to become musicians. The students performing did a great job memorizing their lines, acting in front of their peers, and of course having fun! The students in Drama were very innovative in using their own materials for costumes, school supplies for the set, and a presentation with visuals for the viewers. I am so proud of each and every performer!

6th Grade Math students learned about independent and dependent variables this week. The students used different phrases such as "depends on" and "affects" to determine which variable is independent and dependent. The students also worked in partners on the whiteboard with pre-made examples to determine the variables. The students continued their knowledge of these variables to identify relationships between tables and equations. Great job 6th grade, keep working hard!
