Week of June 6, 2025

2024-2025

This Week in ELA Grades 6-8...

Sixth Grade began reading, analyzing, and discussing our new class novel, Hoot by Carl Hiaasen. We read and analyzed poetry, and we read our Independent Reading (IR) books. We planned our Independent Reading Passion Projects. We also continued closely and critically analyzing nonfiction paired texts from Scholastic Scope. We wrote text-dependent paragraphs, and we responded to June choice board writing prompts. We read nonfiction texts on Newsela and completed activity pages. We continued Wordly Wise Lesson 12 activities, and our tests will be Wednesday, June 11. Assignments are posted in Google Classroom.

Seventh Grade continued reading, analyzing, and discussing our class novel, Pax by Sara Pennypacker. We read and analyzed poetry and read our Independent Reading (IR) books. We also continued closely and critically analyzing nonfiction paired texts from Scholastic Scope. We wrote text-dependent paragraphs, and we responded to June choice board writing prompts. We read nonfiction texts on Newsela and completed activity pages. We continued Wordly Wise Lesson 12 activities, and our tests will be Wednesday, June 11. Our "What My Name Means" and "My Autobiography" research presentations were wonderful! Assignments are posted in Google Classroom.

Eighth Grade continued reading, analyzing, and discussing our class novel, The Outsiders by S.E. Hinton. We also continued reader's theater groups for short story, "The Lady or the Tiger" by Frank Stockton. We read and analyzed poetry and read our Independent Reading (IR) books. We responded to June writing prompts. We continued Wordly Wise Lesson 12 activities, and our tests will be Wednesday, June 11. Our Wax Museum was held on Wednesday, June 4th, and it was fabulous! Assignments are posted in Google Classroom.

Our Wax Museum on Wednesday, June 4th was a huge success!

ELA Grades 6-8...

Middle School English Language Arts Curriculum is aligned to the New Jersey Student Learning Standards for English Language Arts. We use the workshop model of instruction in both reading and writing. Students read and write across a wide variety of genres as well as study the effective uses of writing, mechanics, and grammar. The curriculum supports, encourages, and facilitates choice/independent reading that allows students to pursue topics and genres of interests. The curriculum also embeds text activities and literacy experiences that engage students in reading partnerships and deep, thoughtful discussions.

Sixth Grade texts include read alouds, poetry, nonfiction articles from Newsela and Scholastic Scope magazine, fiction texts, short stories, and the novels Hoot, by Carl Hiaasen and Wonder, by RJ Palacio.

Seventh Grade texts include read alouds, poetry, nonfiction articles from Newsela and Scholastic Scope magazine, fiction texts, short stories, and the novels The Giver, by Lois Lowry and Pax by Sara Pennypacker. (Possibly-Holes by Louis Sachar)

Eighth Grade texts include read alouds, poetry, nonfiction articles from Newsela and Scholastic Scope magazine, fiction texts, short stories, and the novels The Outsiders, by S.E. Hinton, The Gospel According to Larry by Janet Tashjian, and Drums, Girls, and Dangerous Pie, by Jordan Sonnenblick. (Possibly-Sleeping Freshmen Never Lie by David Lubar)
